

ANN

Thursday, 2 July 2026

1:47 PM

Input Layer

- In first layer, i.e, the input layer, the neurons that send data to the buried layer are located.
- Processes data in a variety of formats specified by the programmer

Hidden Layer

- In-between both the layers, the hidden is situated.
- Performs all the math to uncover hidden patterns and characteristics

Output Layer

- Through the hidden layer, input is transformed into output, which is then transmitted using this layer.